

ERNASIA site relaunched

The ERNASIA site is currently being redesigned and updated. The aim is to create a focal point for environmental research in Asia, providing up-to-date news and information on upcoming events, and initiatives. Please come back and visit the site in the coming months to see what exciting changes have been made.